

ADVISES GIRLS NOT TO MARRY DRIVERS

Magistrate Breen Says in Court that After the First Year the Men as a Rule Neglect Their Wives.

Magistrate Breen in the Yorkville Court today severely censured drivers as a class, and advised young women to be careful in marrying men who held the reins over a cab, truck or delivery wagon, on the grounds that they were apt to become neglected wives within a year after the wedding.

The marital troubles of Martin and Agnes Alkens, of No. 41 First avenue, brought out the judicial comment. Alkens was charged with non-support by his wife, who came to court with a baby in arms. After directing Alkens to pay his wife $5 weekly the Magistrate continued:

"It seems to me that one-third of the men charged with non-support in the New York police courts are either cabmen or drivers of some sort. I would advise young women seeking happiness not to marry a driver. Even a chauffeur should be accepted as a husband only after careful deliberation.

"Drivers seldom care for their wives after the first year. I say this only after mature deliberation. Most drivers are drinking men. They soon neglect their young wives, and I have very little sympathy with these men as a class."

DYING ENGINEER WAS BRAVE

With Legs Cut Off He Directed Fireman in Binding Injuries.

(Special to The Evening World.) WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Nov. 3.—James David Calkins, 26 years old, an engineer on the Harlem Railroad, died early today in the White Plains Hospital, the result of his stumbling over a piece of coal on the tender of his engine and then falling backward under his own train. It is believed he was looking into the water tank when he stumbled. Both of his legs were cut off, but he did not lose consciousness, and told his fireman how to bind up his mangled limbs until a physician arrived.

"Don't worry about me," he said to the fireman, "but break the news quietly to my wife."

Mr. Calkins had been engineer for a year and was very popular. At the time of the accident his train was near Putnam Junction, one mile north of Brewster. He leaves a widow and two small children.

JURY ACQUITS WOMAN.

Mrs. Martini Did Not Throw Lamp at Mrs. McCarthy.

A Coroner's jury today acquitted Mrs. Annie Martini, of No. 247 East Sixty-second street, who was arrested Oct. 17 for flinging a lighted lamp at Mrs. Jennie McCarthy and setting her clothes on fire, causing her death by burns.

There was absolutely no evidence that Mrs. Martini had thrown the lamp, except the statements made by herself to the police after her arrest. Coroner Jackson discharged Mrs. Martini.

POLICE CAPT. KEAR ILL IN HOSPITAL

Precinct Commander Attacked with Kidney Trouble and Falls Unconscious While at His Desk in Station House.

Police Capt. Francis J. Kear is in Bellevue Hospital suffering from an attack of kidney trouble, having been stricken with a fainting spell in his office in the Elizabeth street station. He was with several friends at the time and their efforts to revive him failing, they called Sergt. Finn. He, with the others, partially revived Capt. Kear and then called Dr. Charles Nam-mack.

He advised them to send the Captain to his home at No. 107 West Eighty-sixth street. While he was in the cab he was seized with another fainting spell and Dr. Nam-mack ordered him taken to Bellevue. His wife was summoned as soon as he had been put in a room at the hospital.

Capt. Kear suffered from a similar attack about two years ago and was a patient in Roosevelt Hospital for three months.

Finance in Infancy.
(From the Keen-see Journal.)
"Why is Harkins rushing around so excitedly?"
"Why, he says his baby is financially embarrassed."

"Get out! How could a baby be financially embarrassed?"
"Oh, he swallowed a cent, you know."

DETECTIVE JUDGE DECLARED GUILTY

Deputy Police Commissioner Upholds the Charge of Conduct Unbecoming an Officer, and McAdoo Will Fix Punishment.

There were 101 policemen awaiting trial when Third Deputy Police Commissioner Lindley took his place at the desk in the trial room at headquarters today. Of these forty-eight were accused of being off post, the bulk of the accusations coming from Commissioner McAdoo's "shoo-fly" roundmen. There were three charges of drunkenness and eleven of conversing with citizens on post.

Detective Sergt. William P. Judge, of the Leonard street station, was arraigned on a charge preferred by J. Coleman Drayton. The charge was conduct unbecoming an officer.

Judge has a brother-in-law, Patrick O'Toole, who is employed as a district messenger. The boy told him that while delivering a message at Mr. Drayton's home he had been pushed off the steps by the master of the house.

Mr. Drayton, who was present at the trial in person, testified that the next day Judge appeared at his Wall street office and advised him that he had better do something, as the boy was prepared to get a summons, charging assault. Mr. Drayton said that Judge neither said anything nor hinted about money.

O'Toole had Mr. Drayton summoned to Yorkville Court on an assault charge and he was discharged. He testified that just before the papers were served he saw Judge and the boy together near his home, at No. 139 East Fifty-seventh street.

Judge in his own defense said that he went to Mr. Drayton's office solely to find out who was responsible for the assault upon his brother-in-law. He did not know from the boy's story whether it was Mr. Drayton or one of the servants. Commissioner Lindley cross-examined him and got him mixed up as to whether he went to see Mr. Drayton as a police sergeant or a brother-in-law. He was found guilty of conduct unbecoming an officer and his punishment will be left to Commissioner McAdoo.

Sergt. Wilson, of the Tenderloin station, was accused by Deane Miller, of No. 27 West Forty-third street, of refusing to accept $100 cash bail from a prisoner arrested for speeding an automobile. Mr. Miller charged that Wilson kept him locked up for more than three hours. The sergeant was found guilty, but sentence was not announced.

Piano Buying by the Loeser Plan
Is the Easiest Way to Own a Fine Instrument.

To get your Piano NOW; to know that it is the best Piano that is sold or can be sold anywhere for its price; to pay for it in such small monthly parts that you never miss the money—those are the features that make the Loeser method of Piano selling so attractive to almost everybody.

We have built up a great Piano business on those lines—the lines of satisfactory service to our public. You will find here a variety of makes from which to choose, and you will find that each Piano is the best in its respective grades. Each Piano has won fame through merit; through long and satisfactory service. The Knabe stands at the head—unquestionably the world's purest toned Piano. The Starr comes next—a beautiful, durable instrument. The Heller, the Richmond and so down the line—each distinctively best in its class.

Not only is each Piano best in its class, but each is priced the lowest at which a Piano of equal merit is anywhere to be bought. We stand back of that statement absolutely. We know by the most careful examination and comparison that it is true.

You may have any of these Pianos sent home on the immediate payment of a comparatively small sum—a very few dollars. The balance of the payments we will arrange to suit your convenience within reason, and we will in no instance increase the price of the Piano because you do not pay the whole amount in cash. The interest charge of 4% on the deferred payments amounts to an insignificant sum. No matter whether your Piano investment must be limited to $185 or whether you want a Knabe Art Grand, you will find certain and prompt satisfaction here, and the monthly payment plan makes the buying like putting money in a savings bank.
